

Divorce Experts Provide Free Gifts for Parents During National Child-Centered Divorce Month

The third annual recognition of National Child-Centered Divorce Month is being launched with complimentary gifts for parents throughout the month of July.

Divorce book author, Rosalind Sedacca, CCT, founder of the Child-Centered Divorce Network, initiated National Child-Centered Divorce Month. "These weeks are dedicated to helping parents make the best possible decisions regarding their children during and after a divorce."

To help spread the word throughout North America a group of leading divorce experts will be providing links to free ebooks, coaching sessions and other complimentary gifts for divorcing and divorced parents throughout July.

Included among them are authors Rosalind Sedacca, Carolyn Ellis, Christina Rowe and Amy Botwinick ... attorneys and mediators Richard Kularski and Cynthia Tiano ... divorce financial analyst Lisa Decker ... divorce coaches Susan Allan, Laura Campbell and Shelley Stiles ... plus the founders of ChildSharing, Inc. and the National Association of Divorce for Women and Children.

"Parenting is a life-long process, even when you get a divorce," says Sedacca, author of the professionally acclaimed ebook, How Do I Tell the Kids about the Divorce? A Create-a-Storybook Guide to Preparing Your Children -- with Love! "We need to provide better resources and teach better coping skills to parents so they can understand the short- and long-term effects of divorce upon their children."

Parents can access their divorce and parenting-related gifts by visiting <http://www.ChildSharing.com/ChildCenteredDivorce> where they can click on descriptions of each item as well as background information about each expert.

To help spread the word throughout North America a series of free teleseminars are also being offered for parents, educators and others who care about these issues. "Leading professionals within the "peaceful divorce" community will be presenting vital information parents can immediately put to use as they transition through and beyond divorce," says Sedacca.

To learn more about the free teleseminar series and other activities connected with National Child-Centered Divorce Month visit: www.childcentereddivorce.com or www.childsharing.com/childcentereddivorce.